

A Seminar organized by

JICA OGATA SADA KO RESEARCH INSTITUTE FOR PEACE AND DEVELOPMENT

with the support of

SOPHIA UNIVERSITY
INSTITUTE OF COMPARATIVE CULTURE
上智大学比較文化研究所

Forced Migration and Humanitarian Action

Perspectives from Humanitarian Actors Working with People in Displacement

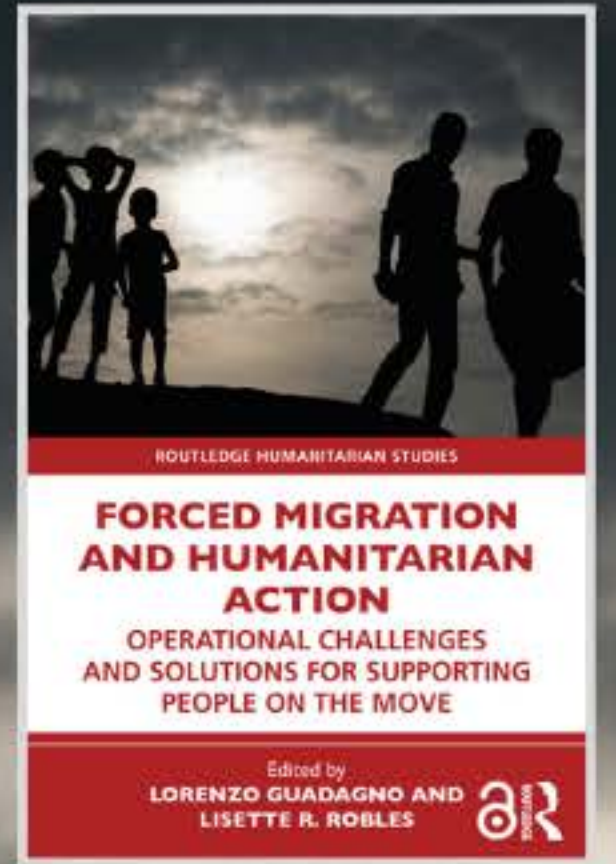

Hybrid Event

January 31, 2025 17:30-19:00 (Japan Standard Time)

In-person: International Conference Hall, 2F, JICA Ichigaya Building / Online: via Zoom

Forced migration, a key aspect of humanitarian crises, shapes responses as people flee conflicts and disasters, facing risks requiring protection. Consequently, forced migration has become a significant operational concern and an essential subject of study, as interconnected and compounding factors lead to more frequent and impactful population displacement.

Join us for this informative seminar on the essential roles of humanitarian actors in assisting displaced populations through data collection, monitoring, and response operations. This seminar will introduce the new book on forced migration and humanitarian action while showcasing insights from organizations engaged in these efforts. Engage with notable speakers to discover more about humanitarian operations for those facing displacement.

SPEAKERS

Dr. Lisette R. Robles

Book Co-Editor : “Forced Migration and Humanitarian Action: Operational Challenges and Solutions for Supporting People on the Move”

Dr. Lorenzo Guadagno

Book Co-Editor/ PAMAD Project Coordinator, Platform on Disaster Displacement

Mr. Oliver Nueschaefer

Team Manager
Humanitarian Technical Advisory,
Christian Blind Mission

Ms. Nikki Herwanger and Ms. Alexandra Bate

Lead Editor, IOM Displacement Tracking Matrix /
Programme Support Officer - IOM Coordination
Office in the Caribbean

Dr. Irene Schoefberger

former Data and Research Officer at IOM – Global Migration
Data Analysis Centre

Ms. Louisa Yasukawa

former Researcher
Internal Displacement Monitoring Centre

Dr. David Slater

Commentator/ Professor, Faculty of Liberal Arts,
Sophia University

REGISTER HERE TO JOIN US!

